RE: Shane Smith

Dear Ms. Thornton:

Here are the estimates you have requested with respect to the diminution of earning capacity and associated economic impairment sustained by your client. The following records were considered in connection with the opinion below: Life Care Plan and Vocational Opinion from Brent Jeansonne, CLCP, dated December 19, 2025; Form 1040 Account Transcript 2023 and 2024; Wage and Income Transcript 2024; Form 1040 US Individual Income Tax Return 2024; W-2s from Whelan Security, PMS 100, LLC, Universal Protection Service LP, L&J Staffing Solutions, Inc., Educity Park Frisco, LLC, and Infinity Investigations; 1099 from DoorDash; and the Claimant Information Sheet.

The results of this analysis are as follows:

BASE: $46,660

- Loss between accident and trial is $45,016
- Employer Fringe Contribution loss to trial is $7,779
- Household Services loss to trial is $9,955
- Without return to gainful employment, the loss from trial is $809,263
- After credit for $13,359, the loss from trial is $588,750
- Employer Fringe Contribution loss from trial is $139,841
- Household Service losses from trial are outlined through various durations, including through ages 44, 54, 61, and 74 and life expectancy.

Your office has provided the following census data:

Date of Birth	3/6/1985
Date of Accident	1/28/2023
Date of Trial	4/20/2026
Place of Trial	431st JDC, Denton, Texas

1. An Earnings Base of $46,660 is employed in the estimate of earning capacity losses below. Losses are presented on an after-tax basis using an effective tax rate of 15.09%.

EARNINGS BASE
Primary	$46,660
Alternative	$13,359

2. Loss to Trial is $45,016 under the base of $46,660. Losses are estimated by multiplying the earnings base by the time period from March 1, 2025, to trial. According to the Vocational Opinion, Mr. Smith was involved in a subsequent motor vehicle accident in February 2025 after he suffered a seizure while driving. Earnings (unknown) since March 1, 2025, should be deducted.
3. Earnings and Employment Background indicates that your client was working as a security guard for North American Security at the time of the accident. Per the vocational history from Mr. Jeansonne, Mr. Smith reportedly earned $18 per hour at the time of the accident. Since the accident he has worked for GardaWorld, Allied Security, Safety Facility Services, and Good Guard Security. You have provided earnings documents for 2023 and 2024. A tax return shows W-2 Earnings of $15,723 in 2024, and tax return transcripts indicate net Schedule C earnings of $-3,676. There were 1099 earnings reported from DoorDash, Inc. In 2023, the Form 1040 account transcript shows $15,737 with a married filing status. I understand Mr. Smith is in the process of getting divorced.

Mr. Jeansonne opines on page 10 of his report that “The 75th percentile wage for this occupation is $46,660 per year. Based on his vocational profile and numerous years of experience as a security guard, the 75th percentile wage serves as the basis for Mr. Smith’s earning capacity.” I have employed an earning capacity of $46,660 as a security guard.

4. Post-Trial Loss of earning capacity takes several factors into account:
 - a. Earning Capacity Base as described above.
 - b. Discount Rates form the basis upon which post-trial earning capacity streams are commuted to present value. The discounting ensures that the lump sum award will dissipate entirely by the end of the calculating period and will be used to replicate the stream of anticipated earning capacity, without windfall to your client. This analysis employs a laddered discount rate approach with rates derived from current rates of interest on AAA-rated municipal bonds ranging from 2.4% to 3.9%.

- c. Incremental Factors have been used to adjust the stream of earning capacity. Earnings growth is 3.56%, based upon the average forecasted growth in the nominal earnings from the Social Security Administration in their intermediate long-term forecast as published in the Annual Report of the Board of Trustees of the Social Security Administration (2025).

RATES OF CHANGE
Primary	3.56%
Alternative	3.56%

- d. Duration of Loss. The United States Department of Commerce and the Bureau of Labor Statistics have compiled data upon which researchers in both the private and public sectors have produced estimates of working life and estimates of average retirement age. An example of the former is Bulletin 2254, published in February 1986, while an example of the latter is an article entitled "The Use of Worklife Tables in Estimates of Lost Earning Capacity," published in April 1983, in the Monthly Labor Review, a publication of the United States Department of Labor. This article was authored by David M. Nelson, Western Washington University, Bellingham, WA. Data were taken from U.S. Department of Labor Statistics, Special Labor Force Report, "Tables of Working Life: The Increment-Decrement Mode," Bulletin 2135, released November 1982 (based on 1977 statistics). These estimates have been updated by academics in "The Markov Model of Labor Force Activity 2012-17: Extended Tables of Central Tendency, Shape, Percentile Points, and Bootstrap Standard Errors Worklife," which is presented below, and "The Markov Model of Years to Final Separation from the Labor Force 2012-17: Extended Tables of Central Tendency, Shape, Percentile Points, and Bootstrap Standard Errors" by Skoog, Cieka, and Krueger. Worklife is estimated assuming a high school level of educational attainment. Mr. Smith received his associate's degree in 2024.

Since one may enjoy earning capacity through life expectancy (Congress has repealed limitations on mandatory retirement), estimates might be carried to age 79. This analysis utilizes a worklife equivalent of 19.6 years from trial. Life expectancy from trial is approximately 37.8 years for a man of your client's date of birth, according to the 2023 United States Life Tables, National Vital Statistics Reports, Volume 74, No. 6, National Center for Health Statistics, 2025.

DURATION OF LOSS
Work-Life Equivalent	19.6 Years
Life Expectancy	37.8 Years

- e. Occupational Disability Losses from Trial measures the extent to which your client's earning capacity may have been impaired as a result of his injury. Wages are reported for alternative occupations on page 11 of the Vocational Opinion. Starting wages range from $11,534 to $15,184 for part-time employment. The midpoint is $13,359. I have illustrated the diminution of future earnings at $13,359 per year. Mr. Jeansonne notes that Mr. Smith will not likely be gainfully employed for two to three years and will experience a total temporary wage loss of $93,320 to $139,800. I have assumed alternative employment beginning 2.5 years from trial. The effective tax rate is 7.65% on alternative earnings.
- f. Employer Contributions to Fringes represent payments made in lieu of wages. Estimates from the Employer Cost of Employee Compensation show that on average hourly costs for health care and defined contribution retirement are 14.67% of wages and salaries for service workers (2025). Loss to trial is $7,779. The present value of employer fringe contributions is $139,841.
- g. Household Services represent economic losses associated with the inability to provide household production valued at their replacement costs. You've requested an estimate of the economic value of household services. Mr. Jeansonne notes on page 3 of his Vocational Opinion that Mr. Smith reports difficulty in performing activities of daily living such as cleaning and cooking.

Data from the American Time Use Survey published by the US Department of Labor Bureau of Labor Statistics is merged with Occupational Employment Wages in the Dollar Value of a Day 2022, published by Expectancy Data (Shawnee Mission, Kansas, 2024). Using the survey data, this publication reports a weighted average of how respondents spend their time and uses the Occupational Employment Survey to provide hourly rates for various activities. These include inside housework, food cooking & cleanup, pets, home & vehicles, household management, shopping, obtaining services, household childcare, and travel for household activity. The Dollar Value of a Day (DVD) is estimated as the hourly market value rate for each category weighted by the number of hours per day on the reported activity. The following table summarizes statistical weekly hours for single men and their corresponding Dollar Value of a Day. These values are reported by gender, marital status, age, and employment status.

TABLE NAME	Table Number	DVD	Weekly Hours
Single Men, Employed Full-Time, Less than 45 years old, No Minor Children in Home	263	$ 27.68	10.10
Single Men, Employed Full-Time, Ages 45 Through 54, No Minor Children in Home	264	$ 36.00	13.13
Single Men, Employed Full-Time, Ages 55 & Over, No Minor Children in Home	265	$ 38.95	14.22
Single Men, Retired, Under Age 62, No Minor Children in Home	301	$ 52.29	19.09
Single Men, Retired, Ages 62 Through 74, No Minor Children in Home	302	$ 53.66	19.63
Single Men, Retired, Ages 75 & Over, No Minor Children in Home	303	$ 48.16	17.50

The following table presents the Dollar Value of a Day based upon the statistical average time reported in the American Time Use Survey. Hourly rates correspond to the rates in the Dollar Value of a Day. The average number of hours of household services will fluctuate with age and employment status. As a benchmark, I have included 100% losses for each category, which may be scaled and summed if some other level of diminution is determined. For instance, one may take 25% of the benchmark to estimate a 25% diminution in the value of household services. Estimates continue through Mr. Smith's life expectancy. Column 2 of the table below provides the annual equivalent market value of household production at the DVD rates listed by gender, marital status, and age for the Tulsa, Oklahoma, geographical area (.8666). To illustrate, $8,761 represents the annual equivalent of $27.68 per day for employed single men under the age of 45 for Tulsa, Oklahoma, and so on. Column 3 gives the present value of the loss over the duration corresponding to the demographic and family characteristics in the referenced table. Column 4 provides cumulative present values at this level of diminution.

TABLE NAME	TULSA, OK AVG	PRESENT VALUE @ 100%	CUMULATIVE
Single Men, Employed Full-Time, Less than 45 years old, No Minor Children in Home	$ 8,761	$ 34,000	$ 34,000
Single Men, Employed Full-Time, Ages 45 Through 54, No Minor Children in Home	$ 11,395	$ 118,036	$ 152,036
Single Men, Employed Full-Time, Ages 55 & Over, No Minor Children in Home	$ 12,329	$ 67,565	$ 219,601
Single Men, Retired, Under Age 62, No Minor Children in Home	$ 16,551	$ 19,334	$ 238,935
Single Men, Retired, Ages 62 Through 74, No Minor Children in Home	$ 16,985	$ 176,119	$ 415,054
Single Men, Retired, Ages 75 & Over, No Minor Children in Home	$ 15,244	$ 38,559	$ 453,613

The value of household services lost from March 1, 2024, to trial is $9,955. This portion of the loss is calculated by multiplying the time from March 1, 2024 to trial by $8,761 adjusted to Tulsa, Oklahoma, at 100% loss. If the trier of fact determines 100% household service losses through Mr. Smith's life expectancy, the present value loss is $453,613 and the past loss is $9,955.

Using column 4 and Mr. Smith's report of his limitations, the trier of fact can use the cumulative column to estimate household service losses through ages 45, 54, retirement, and through age 74 and life expectancy.

Discount rates ensure that any pecuniary award for the loss of future household services accounts for the potential investment return Mr. Smith may earn to fund future medical care. The discount rate is laddered, allowing investment yields to match the future duration of costs, which will ensure that any present value award is exhausted at the end of the duration. Discount rates are derived from current benchmark yields on AAA-rated municipal bonds and are enumerated in the figures at the end of this narrative. Long-term rates (those with maturities greater than 30 years) coincide with the long-run intermediate assumptions provided in the Social Security Administration Trustees Annual Report (2025). For maturities greater than 30 years, I assume a long-run discount rate of 4.7% based on the intermediate long-range estimate from the Social Security Administration Trustees Annual Report (2025). Discount rates range from 2.4% to 4.7%.

Ms. Rahlita Thornton, Esq.

Re: Shane Smith

The value of household services is assumed to grow at a rate of 3.56%, which is consistent with the long-run intermediate average growth rate in wages from the Social Security Administration's Annual Report from the Board of Trustees (2025).

This report is based on the information available and provided as of the date of issuance. Should additional data, documentation, or clarifications become available, or if assumptions require revision, I reserve the right to amend or supplement this report accordingly.

Thank you for this opportunity to work with you.

Sincerely,
